

I have a dream ☁

I am happy to stand here today to talk about a problem that has been going on for hundreds of years but has never been attended to. We are killing our earth. It needs to stop! You need to stop!

The earth is an amazing place. So why are we destroying it? I hope that one day pollution will stop! With pollution we are destroying ourselves, animals and plant life. For example do you remember that time you dropped that plastic bag in the sea or littered? Well an animal could have ate it and choked.

The earth is wrapped in a blanket of air (the atmosphere) with a layer of gas called ozone. In 1979 we started using spray cans letting out a gas called CFCs slowly but surely we, caused there to be a hole over Antarctica in the ozone layer.

I have a dream

Close your eyes for a moment. I imagine that one day we destroy all our trees that will breathe in our carbon monoxide. We would become extinct!

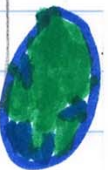

Imagine that one day we make a bigger gash in the atmosphere! Imagine that one day we destroy this earth! Imagine that,

Cars release a poisonous gas called carbon dioxide. It is dreadful for our earth. Electric cars don't release this horrendous gas. Why don't we use those?

Those selfish people who destroy our earth; sailors and their oil spillages, cars and their carbon monoxide. People and their spray cans, it destroys our earth!

Want to save the environment? Unplug devices when it's possible. Carpools to school or work are good ideas. Instead of driving everywhere you should try walking or riding a bicycle. I have a dream that one day people would not kill the environment.

I have a dream ☁

This is our earth! Its our future! Our earth is dying! Stop destroying your earth! Our earth!

I have a dream

today!

