

WEDNESDAY 28 JANUARY 2017
WALT-write a re-draft of a story.

Dragon? EAMANA; the place for all dragons.
In 2000 there was a boy ~~to~~ that lived in the country with his mum and ~~mom~~ twin. He and his twin didn't get along with their mum or each other. They were having a fight, and, blue eyes full of tears, he had realized that his ~~mum~~ had just taken his twin's side. Filled with betrayal, Tyler grabbed his dragon suit and made a dash for the door. He goes to the little blue shed (in the garden), where he felt safe and where he told all of secrets. Tyler loved dragons, and he was an amazing artist. He always stashed pieces of paper in a little seer secret pocket ~~of~~ ⁱⁿ on his dragon suit.

So, now Tyler was in the little blue shed, drawing with his best pencil, a dragon, of course. He loses himself in his imagination. When he ~~is~~ ^{was} finished his drawing, he put it on an empty empty space on the wall (for that's where he put his pictures) and stared at it awhile. Suddenly, an eye moved and a wing twitched. It startled Tyler, and he told himself off for using his ~~ing~~ ~~magical~~ ~~or~~ imagination. But then, a voice ~~or~~ chattered. "Oh, Sykel, you always ~~go~~ give it away." Then with a sigh, he grumbled "Okay, You can come out everyone." Suddenly, a very detailed, scarlet dragon appeared at the window.

The ~~dog~~ dragon and Tyler were unsure weather or not to trust each other. Sure it was time to intervene, the blue dragon, who had spoken before, chirruped, "Oh, well this is Tyler, Raptor and Tyler, this is Raptor. ~~At~~ We called dragons the type of dragon they are." Then Raptor nudged Tyler who was frozen to the spot. "Hey, get on my back." said Raptor. "I'll take you to a land where dragons will worship you and where everything is fair." Now Tyler hopped on eagerly, and off they went, soaring in and out of clouds.

Soon they arrived at Ermana, where orange whales, dragons, and creatures of such roam freely. Tyler looked around feeling chilly and hungry. The journey had been such fun that he hadn't felt chilly or hungry at all! So, as promised, they worshipped worshipped him and everything was fair. One day, (a few months later) he started to feel lonely. He wanted to go home. He ~~ask~~ asked Raptor if he could fly home. "Fine," answered Raptor. "But it must be taken to Tamaha" (court leader). They thought about it. They didn't want Tyler to leave, but they wanted to keep him happy. In the end, Tyler took a Water Big (a creature you could steer and fly) and went home, but promised to come back again. So he went home, and embraced the loved loved his mum tried to give to him. Tyler ~~to~~ lived a much happier life and kept his promise to the ~~the~~ dragons and visited often.

The End