WALT - write a re-draft of a story.

Tepwop

One day 65 million years ago there was a boy called Jacob that lived in Ottawa, Canada. Jacob didn't really like school. He used to love school and Rugby but now he anxiously wants to be an explorer. One day after school he went to the orphanage and got adopted. After school the next day he went home and started to build an island out of Lego. Then his mom got mad at him for not cleaning it up. Amazingly, his room turned into the island he was building.

When his room had fully changed, he found out that he was on a hill. After 2 full hours of walking down the hill he ~~found~~ found a horse waiting for him. The horse took him to a cave and they stayed there for the night. In the morning he got on the horse and the horse started to take him somewhere. The horse took him about 5 miles to a beach. Suddenly, out of nowhere these brown monsters with big ears and 4 arms came and attacked Jacob. Bravely Jacob did a magic trick and scared them away.

An hour later the monsters came back with a whole bunch more and wrote in the sand "He..... R..... Da..... SNAMOR" "Hello Snamor what do you want with me"? he mumbled "Will..... B..... King..... Uv..... Snamor. "Me" why me"? he said shocked. The biggest and best Snamor came out and placed a crown on Jacob's head and Jacob said "Let's have a huge party"! Jacob and the monsters partied for 2 days straight!

Jacob ~~and~~ started to feel homesick and wanted to go home where his mom and dad loved him. So he sent all the monsters away. After a good nights rest Jacob got on the horse and the horse took him back to the cave. The next day Jacob took 5 hours to hike up the hill. But he couldn't find the hole that he fell out of!
All he could see was black. The Snamors were going to attack Jacob because he was going to leave. Jacob tried as hard as he could to fight them off but they were too strong.
Then Jacob did ^{the} magic trick he had done on the ~~beach~~ beach 2 days ago, and they went away Incredibly Jacob woke up in his bed. He went into the kitchen and told his parents everything that had happened in his dream. Like the Snamor, him being king, him being attacked and best of all he showed them the magic trick.

The End!
